

La Pousse d'Or

PROFILE

Arguably the finest and most prestigious Burgundy house in Volnay, Domaine de la Pousse d'Or has now been in existence since the 1100s. Most recently, Gérard Potel acquired the Domaine through a marriage to the then-owner's niece in 1964. He unified what were two properties in Volnay into one 17-hectare nucleus, where Pousse d'Or is headquartered today. With his untimely death in 1997 the Domaine passed into the hands of the current winemaker, Patrick Landanger. Pousse d'Or has three 1er cru monopoles in Volnay: Clos de la Bousse d'Or, Clos d'Audignac, and Clos des Soixante Ouvrées. They also make several different villages, 1er cru and grand cru wines from throughout the Côte d'Or.

The vines are located in the commune of Santenay, in the south of the Côte de Beaune. The plot "Clos de Tavannes" is located right next to the famous 1er Cru "Les Gravières" and on the border with the village of Chassagne. The soil is clay-limestone, with the sub-soil composed of different layers of limestone (pebbles, marly soils). The slope is quite steep.

SPECIFICATIONS

Wine: Santenay 1er Cru
"Clos Tavannes"

Varietals: 100% Pinot Noir

Appellation: Santenay 1er Cru AOC

Exposure: East

Soil: Limestone and shales

Vineyard Age: Planted between 1920 and 1998

Vineyard Area: 2.09

Harvest: Manual

Agricultural Method: Demeter
Certified Biodynamic, Organic

Vinification: Destemming. Cold maceration for 7 days. Temperature-controlled fermentation, treading twice a day. Vatting for 21 days. Maturing on the lees in oak barrels (20% new) for 15 months. Late natural malolactic fermentation, no fining, no filtration, racking and bottling by gravity.

“Named Producer of the Year in 2016
by “Bourgogne
Aujourd’hui,” Patrick
Landanger has truly restored this historic estate to its former glory.”

SHIVERICK IMPORTS • from vine to glass for more than 30 years

www.shiverick.com • shiverick@shiverick.com