

The New York Times

Domaine le Roc Fronton

La Folle Noire d'Ambat 2010

New York Times, January 2014

By ERIC ASIMOV

What is negrette? What is Fronton? What on earth is La Folle Noire d'Ambat? To answer that last question, you must try this red, made from the inky black negrette grape grown in Fronton, in southwest France just north of Toulouse. You will find La Folle Noire d'Ambat is a ripe, succulent, exotically fruity wine that makes for delicious, easy drinking anytime. What else do you need to know? (Langdon Shiverick, Los Angeles)

