Antonella Corda

2017 Vermentino di Sardegna
Sardinia, Italy

June 2019

Score: 90 Points

Antonella Corda established this winery in 2010 with vineyards inherited from her family, who run Argiolas, one of the island's largest wine producers. She now farms 37 acres of vines near Serdiana, in the southern part of the island, from which she makes both red and white wines, two of which are recommended here. Corda's vermentino is floral and fresh, with a current of salinity to balance the crisp, tangy flavors of lime, apple and herbs. Poised and refreshing, it's ready for a range of mild seafood dishes.
