Score: 89-92 Points

Tasted as a barrel sample, the 2013 Pinot Noir Rancho La Vina comes all from the loamy, sandy soils in the Sta. Rita Hills. Fermented with 25% whole clusters and aged 9 months in 2-year-old French oak barrels, it has a medium to full-bodied, nicely concentrated, yet elegant profile to go with plenty of peppery herbs, underbrush, cured meats and black cherry fruit. It will be interesting to see how this comes together, and it should be an outstanding wine. – JD
