Rating: 90

The tank-fermented 2012 Sancerre Cuvée Florès, a Sauvignon Blanc from high-density plantings on the caillottes terroirs of Bué (up to 10,000 vines per hectare), shows an attractive bright and perfumed bouquet of white fruits and flowers, later, and with much more aeration, fresh lime/citrus and mineral aromas take over. It is an elegant, well-balanced, medium-bodied, yet lifted and very delicate, Sancerre with almost no meat but flowers, minerals and citrus flavors. The finish is zesty and extremely animating. Very reasonably priced.
