2015 Estate Field Selections Pinot Noir (Mendocino Ridge)

June 2018

Score: 97 points

It's hard to imagine a wine with more personality and complexity than this absolutely intriguing mountain-grown Pinot. It continues to surprise and delight in layers of exotic mint, violet, ripe cherry and berry tones that carry through to the vibrant finish. Superb balance comes from firm tannins and ample acidity, with vivid fruit and savory flavors on top of a medium body. Cellar Selection (JG)
