2017 Pommard "Les Jarollières"
Burgundy, France

Score: 89-92

Here the nose flirts with hints of barnyard on the earthy and fresh red berry aromas. There is more volume if less refinement to the tautly muscular medium-bodied flavors that exude plenty of minerality on the lingering if not especially complex finale. This is sufficiently firm to warrant a decade plus of cellaring where more depth should develop.
