89-92 Points

Bright medium ruby. Blueberry, wild huckleberry, menthol and licorice pastille on the very pure but reticent nose. Offers a plush texture and a restrained sweetness but not quite the energy, lift or balance of the Charmes. Tannins are reasonably suave and well-supported, though. Patrick Landanger finished his harvest with his Chambolle vineyards on September 14. The rich, mounting finish displays a faintly gamey quality. (ST)
