Marsannay P'tite Grumotte 2015

Marsannay, Burgundy

The Wine Advocate #230 – April 2017

Score 91-93 points

The 2015 P'tite Grumotte, from vines that habitually millerandé each year, has a very pure, seductive bouquet with hints of kirsch and crushed strawberry, wonderful intensity and impressive focus. The palate is medium-bodied with a sweet candied entry, quite succulent in texture with blueberry and crème de cassis towards the finish. Two or three barrels produced, although there may not be a 2016 because of the frosts. (NM)
