

Max Ferd. Richter

2016 Graacher Domprobst Riesling Kabinett Feinherb
Mosel, Germany

The Wine Advocate #236 – April 2018

Score 90 points

From younger vines on deep and weathered slate soils, the 2016 Graacher Domprobst Riesling Kabinett Feinherb shows a coolish and smoky bouquet of dark, flat slate and yellow fleshed stone fruit aromas. Lush and round on the palate, this is a well-structured, piquant and salty Riesling with lush fruit and an elegant, salty finish. The wine has good length and complexity and corresponds with several excellent Domprobst Rieslings I tasted for this report. (SR)

